Yaffa Zhav BioLift™ – How microcurrent technology works

Originally developed in the US in the late 1980's, microcurrent technology was used to treat facial weakness in Bells palsy and stroke patients. Since the early 1990's, microcurrent has been used for cosmetic purposes and branded as a non-surgical facelift, simply because of its immediate effects on the skin and muscles. It offers an alternative to invasive procedures.

Microcurrents are gentle waveforms, that match the electrical activity of the body. Research has revealed that microcurrents increase levels of ATP (adenosine triphosphate) and free amino acids in the body. They also promote cell repair. Microcurrent systems use a combination of different wave shapes, hertz and current, that are simultaneously directed through single or dual-tipped probes into the muscle or skin tissue. Even the best hydrating creams cannot penetrate deeply enough to address the source of the problem – your subcutaneous facial muscles.

A firmer foundation for younger skin

An underlying reason behind ageing features and sagging facial skin is the condition of the supporting muscles. Your facial muscles form the “foundation” of your skin, and if they're out of shape, it shows. Whilst many women today regularly work out at the gym to exercise and tone their bodies, our faces get no such favours – until now! Finally, the Yaffa Zhav Bio Lift™ provides a way to prompt facial muscles into shaping up. The result is an amazing improvement in skin tone and texture – a difference that lasts.

Yaffa Zhav Bio Lift™ - Benefits

- Improves and tones facial muscles
- Improves elastin and collagen production
- Improves blood circulation
- Improves moisture retention

The full facial workout

Yaffa Zhav Bio Lift™ incorporates leading edge beauty therapy technology. Infinitely adjustable micro-currents, applied through smoothly contoured wands, penetrate deep below the skin to stimulate tired facial muscles, exercising and toning at the same time. This is a unique treatment that you can feel working immediately. After just half an hour of treatment your face will tingle with a pleasant, lively feeling. As soon as your facial muscles start to regain their youthful tone, you'll see the difference. Firmer skin, better texture, smoothed lines and improved moisture retention are just some of the benefits. Best of all, the Yaffa Zhav Bio Lift™ means you can maintain your new look in the comfort of your own home. This truly is a revolution in beauty, one that's already being called “the non-surgical face lift.”
